Our mission. Our story. Our people.

Our mission: helping people get better

We bring together healthcare providers, patients, and technology to create a more connected, patient-focused healthcare journey.

We call it whole person care.

We're not employees, we're team members

Fullscripters are owners of our business, and drivers of our mission.

We work as a community to maximize our impact. Because we believe that how we work matters just as much as what we build.

Fullscripters have helped millions of people get better.

Together, we're ready to help even more.

Building with purpose since 2011

Searching for purpose

After cycling across Canada to raise money for cancer research, Kyle Braatz realized what truly motivated him: building things that make a difference for others.

Through that experience, he met his soon-to-be business partner, Brad Dymant, who designed the bike tour's website.

They started a creative agency together and grew it into a successful business. But both wanted something deeper, something they could dedicate their lives to. They were looking for what came next.

It started with a problem

That next chapter began close to home. Brad's wife, Dr. Alanna Dymant, was a naturopathic doctor who wanted to treat the whole person through nutrition, movement, sleep, and mindfulness.

The system made it hard. She spent more time managing products and paperwork than caring for patients.

When Alanna shared her challenges, Kyle and Brad saw an opportunity to make personalized care easier to deliver and better health easier to achieve.

They knew the solution, but the system wasn't ready

In 2011, they built NDstorefront, the first supplement dispensing platform for healthcare providers.

- ✓ They eliminated inventory costs.
- ✓ They made it convenient for patients to order.
- ✓ They gave providers more control.

They made high-quality supplementation simple...

...and built the foundation for something even bigger.

From that first problem to today

That first solution became the foundation for Fullscript: a platform built to make whole person care easier for providers to practice and patients to consume.

The solution that started around one dinner table now powers thousands of practices and millions of health journeys across North America.

The movement to revolutionize healthcare is gaining momentum

At Fullscript, our job is to keep it moving forward with every product, every feature, and every idea. To make care more connected and continue our mission to help people get better.

This is your invitation.

Bring your talent, purpose, and determination.

The story continues with you.

The foundation of how we work

Our core values and leader behaviors.

Act like a founder

Operate as if it is day one, every day with grit, ownership, and agency. Take initiative and move forward without waiting for perfect certainty. Challenge the status quo, learn through action, and follow through with conviction so that Fullscript is the recognized leader in our space.

People-first, AI-empowered

We develop the best version of ourselves while harnessing AI to amplify every Fullscripter with greater scale, speed, and impact. We leave ego behind and innovate with purpose, grounding every advancement in the real needs of our teammates, practitioners, and patients.

Put practitioners first, always

Fullscript started with just one practitioner, and our hyper-growth is fueled by their success. We begin with the practitioner, working backward from their challenges to deliver profound value to the patients in their care. Our partnership with practitioners is not just a priority; it is our ultimate competitive advantage.

Outcomes matter

We focus on what truly moves the business forward and measure success by real impact, not activity. We question work that does not serve our goals, and prioritize efforts that deliver scalable, outsized value. With clear priorities, we own results together and drive sustained growth.

Our leader behaviors

Lead by example

Leaders model integrity and accountability, setting high standards while embodying Fullscript's values in both success and failure.

Have a bias for action

Leaders prioritize ruthlessly, adapt quickly, and make smart, decisive moves to drive goals forward with speed and focus.

Remain open

Leaders communicate with clarity and transparency, ensuring goals and feedback are understood while fostering open, empathetic dialogue.

Cultivate great teams

Leaders create a collaborative, accountable, and fun environment by empowering ownership, removing roadblocks, and celebrating achievements.

Champion growth

Leaders grow their teams by mentoring, setting goals, and creating opportunities for continuous learning and development.

The experience of working at Fullscript

We are a community of builders and leaders

Builders are individual contributors who aren't afraid to roll up their sleeves and make an impact. They're masters at their craft, and mentors to their co-workers.

Leaders set goals, guide, and share wisdom so members of their team can grow and thrive. They're also builders who recognize the value of staying close to their craft.

Together, builders and leaders experiment, collaborate, improve, and most importantly, move our mission forward.

We aim for progress, not stability

At Fullscript we prioritize momentum. So we cut out the things that slow us down, like unnecessary meetings, soft deadlines, and unfocused intention.

We move forward and accomplish more as a team by being intentional about when we work together, how we work, and where we work.

We work wherever we work well

We believe great work needs both focus and connection.

For our teammates on computers, that means the freedom to work from home, in a hub office location, or both.

When it's time to innovate, accelerate, and dream bigger than ever before, our teams come together to create moments that matter.

Our signature events are the year's biggest moments that matter

Hackathon

Cross-functional teams come together for several days of innovation, collaboration, and experimentation. We turn big ideas into real solutions that transform our business.

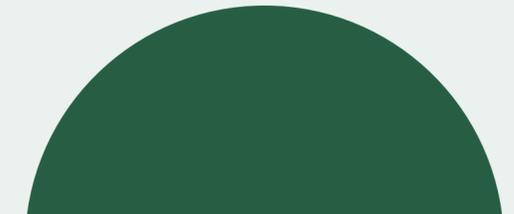

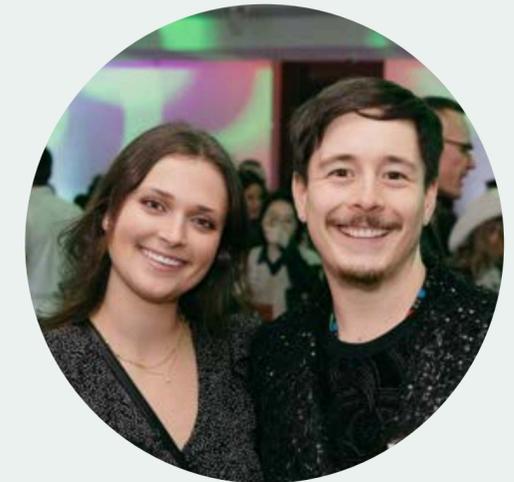

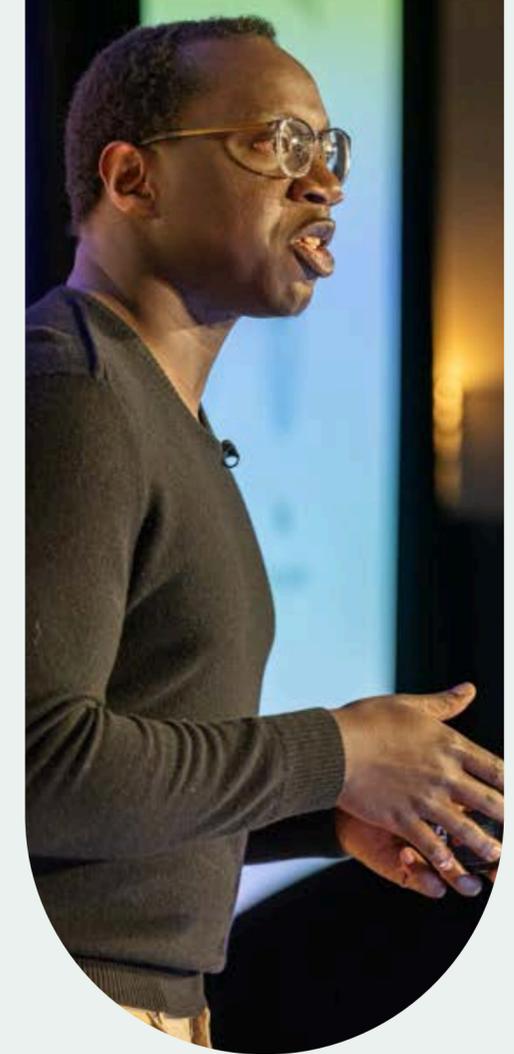

Summer Socials

We gather across our hub locations to celebrate, unwind, and connect. Shared experiences spark new friendships, strengthen teams, and create memories that make Fullscript unique.

Fullhouse

Once a year, we celebrate our accomplishments and set even loftier goals. Inspiring talks from leaders and teammates drive clarity, alignment, and a vision of the future of Fullscript.

We gather to innovate, build relationships, and bring our mission to life. Because what matters most is coming together as a community.

Community fuels everything we do

We thrive on connection and community. When we gather together, it builds trust and momentum.

Hub Days

In our North American hub cities, team members gather once a month to work and play together.

Employee Resource Groups (ERGs)

Led by team members, ERGs promote inclusivity and celebrate diversity in our company and the broader community through education and support.

Mentoring Program

We match experienced Fullscripters with team members looking to learn, develop new skills, and be inspired.

Fullscripters bring curiosity, and purpose to helping each other get better, and we extend these philosophies into the places where we live and work.

We support the health of our communities

Whether raising funds for children's hospitals, partnering with the Ottawa Senators Foundation, supporting women in technology, or encouraging inclusivity at Pride events across North America, we're always striving to make the places we live and work better.

We also support the software development community, hosting regular meetups for developers who work on Ruby, Forward JS, and sponsoring the annual Rails Conference.

Above all, we're driven by purpose

At Fullscript, every role, every project, every idea contributes to something bigger: helping people get better.

That's why we're committed to each other just as strongly as we're committed to our mission. Because we know that when we work together, innovation moves faster and ideas grow stronger.

From inspirational events to day-to-day conversations and everything in between, every moment has meaning.

Because after all, we're not just building a business.
We're building a movement to revolutionize healthcare.
