*Goat's milk protein forms a smaller, softer and looser curd in the stomach, and is broken down faster, compared to cow's milk protein.

**Lactose is the primary carbohydrate found in breast milk and the optimal source of carbohydrates for most healthy babies.

***High 2-palmitic acid (beta palmitate) models the fatty acid structure found in breast milk. Formula with fat blends with beta palmitate are associated with improved calcium and fat absorption and softer stool consistency.

****May be made in a facility in USA, Canada, Ireland or the Netherlands.
